Roads & Infrastructure update

Some infrastructure upgrades have recently been completed at Northshore Hamilton with more on the way.

Construction of Old Shoreline Park is now finished and the new park and pedestrian bridge link will open soon. The removal of disused riverside wharves is complete and the salvaged timber is being stored for re-use within the development.

The Hercules Street park located on the Caltex site is one step closer to reality as decontamination works have been completed.

The former Caltex petrol site was purchased by Economic Development Queensland earlier in the year and will undergo a $10 million transformation into a new clean green park.

The successful proponent to carry out the Remora Road and Macarthur Ave works will be announced shortly. These works will take approximately twelve months to complete and will deliver a more prominent ‘front door’ into Northshore. The works will improve pedestrian and cyclist safety along this road. Residents and businesses will be advised in advance of commencement and of any disruption to traffic during this period.

Australia’s first custom-built solar electric cars to be manufactured at Northshore Hamilton

Clenergy Team Arrow has announced plans to manufacture Australia’s first custom-built solar electric cars at their new innovation, design and manufacturing hub at Northshore Hamilton.

The team unveiled the design of their luxe, hi-tech vehicle that is yet to be named, on September 17.

Clenergy Team Arrow is a Brisbane based team of entrepreneurs who plan to create the first limited release, road registered, custom designed, Australian solar electric car and aim to be the first Australian company to manufacture and sell solar electric vehicles.

The team will showcase their energy efficient creation at the upcoming 2017 Bridgestone World Solar Challenge. Their ‘race’ version of the vehicle will be the first road-registered solar vehicle to compete in the Challenge.

Economic Development Queensland has given the team a flying start in their innovative endeavour by providing long-term access to the site and facilities that are currently being transformed into the innovation hub located at Macarthur Ave, Hamilton.

Event organisers, South Australian Tourism Commission, expect the 2017 Bridgestone World Solar Challenge to be one of the largest, most innovative yet, with record-breaking entry numbers already confirmed.

Northshore Hamilton is set to become home to another stunning riverfront development after Brookfield Residential Properties launched its latest apartment project, Gallery House.

The $144 million development will raise the bar in luxury, absolute waterfront living in Hamilton, with 164 premium one, two and three bedroom apartments, penthouses and sub penthouses, a rooftop sanctuary featuring tropical palms, lush daybeds and an infinity pool.

The 20-level luxury apartment project will occupy an absolute riverfront position neighbouring the developer’s retail and residential community, Portside Wharf, taking in views over the river to the city skyline and meandering mountains.

Location, lifestyle and design are the cornerstone of the project which has its own internationally acclaimed ‘Artist in Residence’, Sam Chirnside, commissioned by Brookfield to create a collection of artworks to represent the project’s inspirations—city, river and sky.

Designed by renowned architect, Cottee Parker, Gallery House will cultivate a relaxed lifestyle with the connectedness of an inner-city suburb, offering apartments with timeless design, generous sized balconies, full height windows, quality finishes, and at least one secure car space.

Interested parties are invited to visit the new Gallery House Sales & Display Centre at Portside Wharf.

For more information go to www.gallery-house.com.au, phone 07 3630 1666 or visit the Sales & Display Centre at 39 Hercules St, Portside Wharf, Hamilton.

Fueling a new park at Northshore Hamilton

Economic Development Queensland have purchased a service station site to transform it into public space as part of creating safe, caring and connected communities.

Economic Development Queensland will spend $10 million on remaking the Caltex site on Kingsford Smith Drive into a community playground and green space.

The Hercules Street park will have a new central ‘village green’ multi-use open space large enough for cricket matches and football games, but could also be used as an event space with amphitheatre seating.

New shared pedestrian and cycle pathways will wind around the perimeter with a tree-colonnade lining the 250 metre jogging path. The park will form a western gateway to Kingsford Smith Drive.

There will be new junior play facilities, picnic shelters, BBQ’s, public toilets and a dog off-leash area.

Work on decontaminating the Caltex site is now complete with the construction of the park expected to start in 2018.

The expansion will take the upgrade of Kingsford Smith Drive into account and the expanded Hamilton Recreation Reserve will eventually be handed to the Brisbane City Council to maintain.

Portside Wharf invites the Northshore Hamilton community to celebrate its 10th Birthday on Saturday October 15 and Sunday October 16 2016 with a picnic on the wharf.

The celebrations will take place from midday to 6pm on both Saturday and Sunday and include live music, food and drink stalls, kids’ activities as well as some great retail offerings.

A special offer of $10 picnic lunch boxes will be available from Portside Wharf’s range of fabulous restaurants.

Don’t miss this opportunity to spend an afternoon in the sunshine celebrating this important Portside Wharf milestone!
Eat Street welcomes Matt Sinclair’s Ten Piece Cutlery

Eat Street Markets has welcomed South East Asian street food stall Ten Piece Cutlery to their impressive line-up of food vendors.

The highly anticipated new food stall is co-owned by MasterChef runner-up Matt Sinclair and was launched to eager Eat Street visitors on September 2.

Matt won second place in the last season of Network Ten’s MasterChef and together with his business and kitchen partner Moe Rickard, created the speciality food stall with a commitment to dishing up some seriously tasty food.

Together, Matt and Moe bring more than 15 years’ experience in the kitchen and will use their passion for food and talent for cooking to provide a rotating menu of Asian inspired street snacks to Eat Street’s food lovers every Friday and Saturday.

New park named to acknowledge rich Northshore Hamilton history now complete

Northshore Hamilton’s newest park opens soon to the public and has been aptly named ‘Old Shoreline Park’, in recognition of the park’s historically significant location.

The brand new park has been developed as part of the Northshore Hamilton urban renewal project and is located at 351 Macarthur Avenue, along the area that was previously part of Hamilton’s natural shoreline.

The shoreline and the broader area have experienced ongoing transformation over time, reflecting the historic development of Brisbane.

Many of the early changes to the natural shoreline area were in the late 1800’s as a result of the decision to create major port facilities at Hamilton Reach. These changes started in 1898 with the construction of a training wall. The changes continued for the next 70 years with reclamation works and land development significantly altering the shoreline, and the face of Hamilton Northshore.

The name for Old Shoreline Park was chosen to recognise this historical connection and reflect the Northshore Hamilton project commitment to acknowledge and celebrate the site’s maritime history.

An information plaque has been installed at the park to serve as an opportunity to inform the community about the changed form of the landscape and as a continual reminder of the site’s rich history.

The landscaped park provides a number of features including a park shelter, dog off-leash area, exercise equipment, pedestrian walkways and cycle links to Curtain Ave West.
