#DISCOVERNORTHSHORE

Roll up, roll up to Cirque du Soleil's 'KURIOS™ – Cabinet of Curiosities'

An acrobatic spectacular for the whole family comes to Northshore as Cirque du Soleil tumble, back-flip and juggle their way back to Brisbane.

From 10 January 2020, Northshore brings the ultimate Cirque du Soleil experience to Brisbane.

Gear up for a thrilling night of steampunk acrobatics with Cirque du Soleil's signature sense of the offbeat and the fantastical.

Telling an enthralling 19th-Century tale that will stop time (and possibly your heart), KURIOS™ – Cabinet of Curiosities transports its audience to a magical world through storytelling, daring acrobatic feats and joyous magical acts. Since its opening in the troupe's home city of Montréal, critics have been raving about KURIOS™ – Cabinet of Curiosities, celebrating it as the show that's brought back Cirque du Soleil's mojo.

Hercules Street Park Update

Big changes are sprouting up at Hercules Street Park, with upgrade works well underway.

With the underground services and much of the irrigated garden areas, shade buildings and amenities buildings complete, Northshore's highly anticipated outdoor recreation area is taking shape. The coming months will see the completion of the playground, the dog off-leash area, and the multi-court/exercise area. Construction of our big drawcard – the waterplay area – plus the second round of turf laying will also commence shortly. And, as the turf takes a couple of months to put down roots, the final touches including park benches and lights will be installed.

Construction is well underway with Hercules Street Park scheduled to be opened to the public in late 2019 subject to any weather delays.

A splash of colour for Eat Street Northshore's car park

All the colour and excitement of Eat Street Northshore is splashing out into its adjacent car park thanks to a collaboration between Queensland College of Art (QCA) students and Northshore.

QCA's own emerging artists Adrian Charles Smith and Kathleen O'Hagan – led by project manager, lecturer and experienced public artist Simon Degroot – are making our car park their canvas.

The project began with a workshop in July, where families visiting Eat Street Northshore were invited to be part of the creative process. Their input provided inspiration for the artists. The resulting Active Layers 2019 collection of murals emerged as a representation of Northshore's past and present, inspired by both the current active environment and rich, layered history of Northshore.

The dramatic car park transformation has begun and is expected to be completed by October (weather permitting).

Blokarts in full sail at Northshore

Blokarts are light, single-person vehicles with colourful, billowing sails...and wheels rather than keels! Designed to run on land, they can reach speeds of up to 100km per hour.

While blokarts are typically found racing on beaches, here at Northshore we have an urban racing track where blokarts surf the concrete.

The South East Queensland Blokart Club (SEQBC) finds the wind changes and lower wind strengths at our Northshore track perfect for learning to sail in light winds, testing conditions and on uneven surfaces. And our course might just be the secret to their success, with five of the SEQBC members earning 7 trophies at the recent Australian Blokart Championships.

If you'd like to join one of SEQBC's upcoming 'come & try days', keep an eye on their Facebook page: @SouthEastQueenslandBlokartClub.

TeamArrow, rallying despite setbacks

Only weeks out from the 2019 Bridgestone World Solar Challenge (BWSC19), TeamArrow has experienced some major set backs that will see them change up their plans to race with the sun.

During a recent testing session, TeamArrow's two-seater solar electric sports car – the Arrow STF – experienced a mechanical issue. The resultant damage to the solar panels, suspension, steering and chassis of the vehicle mean that the STF will be unable to compete in the Cruiser Class of the BWSC19. But TeamArrow are not backing away from the challenge of crossing Australia solely using solar power!

TeamArrow will now participate in the Adventure Class of this year's challenge in their single-seater vehicle, Arrow1. Joining 53 teams from 24 countries around the world, TeamArrow plans to drive all the way from Darwin to Adelaide down the Stuart Highway. The 3,021 km journey will be completed in five days of driving between 8 am and 5pm each day.

Arrow1 competed in the 2013 and 2015 Solar Challenges, and TeamArrow can't wait to hit the road in it again.
